

Loretta Reveals May 2017 Newsletter

Sweet April showers, Do spring May flowers.
-Thomas Tusser

April showers (smiles!) The month of April was a refreshing one on the LR Platform as our first article brought to the fore those who continuously labour behind the scenes working hard to raise the next generation. The unsung heroes and heroines that dwell amongst us;

Celebrating the hands that rocked the cradle.

We didn't stop there we went on to remember our teachers, the very people who forge all other professions. They, whose candles have lighted many more candles for our world. For this LR chose a unique woman of excellence;

Why should a teacher's reward be in heaven?

We however realized that the showers of love for humanity did not stop there. From those who rocked our cradles to those who helped us light our candles we moved to those who work hard at keeping us alive. This article had so much to give us. The key points being; you do not have to be a Doctor to save lives, live a healthy lifestyle and donate blood, you never can tell where and when it would be needed.

Blood: The elixir of life, My Continent and I

The world's favorite season is spring. All things seem possible in May.

-Edwin Way Teale

As May blooms forth, the LR platform has remarkable articles blossoming too. Get ready to meet a remarkable woman who in today's world has brightened up the world with her activity, we also meet someone who is building possibilities from nothing. One man who is changing what functional housing looks like positively. It's the month of May so stay with us as we bring you inspirational flowers in the form of these many motivational stories you would love.

Remember the Gail Devers quote that tells us every accomplishment starts with the decision to try. So do not forget to try anything you always wanted to do because all things can be possible in May.
